ABOUT RESULTS

Charity can move millions, but advocacy can move billions.

Results International (Australia) - Results - is a non-partisan international aid and development organisation. We advocate to Australian parliamentarians with the aim of leveraging millions of dollars in government funding for the world's poorest communities in the Asia Pacific region.

For 35 years we have recruited, trained and empowered everyday Australians through our grassroots advocacy program. We enable our advocates to use their voice to ensure Australia is a good international citizen and directs its overseas aid budget to some of the best anti-poverty initiatives in the world.

Our model of grassroots, policy and parliamentary advocacy enables us to create transformational change for some of the world's poorest communities. Throughout our history, we have generated significant government investment in priority areas including global health, education, nutrition, and women and girls.

Results is one of only two development agencies in Australia dedicated to advocating for global health equity. We believe that, no matter where people are born, everyone should have equal opportunities to fulfil their potential in life.

With head, hands and heart, Results has contributed to some of the biggest wins in the fight to end global poverty. From mobilising millions of dollars to alleviate diseases of poverty such as tuberculosis and polio, to ensuring millions more children have access to basic education.

Mission

To generate the political will to end extreme poverty.

Vision

An Asia-Pacific region free from extreme poverty.

Values

- We are independent, non-partisan and evidence-based.
- We are driven to achieve equity and justice.
- We work in solidarity with the people we serve and partner with organisations with a shared mission.
- We empower everyday people, corporations and politicians to take action.

OUR INTERNATIONAL PARTNERSHIPS

Results International (Australia) is a member of two international advocacy partnerships: Results and ACTION.

Creating change at scale requires partnership across organisations. At Results we are thrilled to partner with the ACTION Global Health Advocacy Partnership, a group of 13 locally rooted organisations around the world, working to ensure all people have equitable access to health care.

We are also part of an international network of Results organisations. As well as Australia, our Results network spans the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom. Together we form a united global network of agencies committed to a world without poverty.

"Coming together is a beginning, staying together is progress, and working together is success."

CHAIR'S REPORT

2025 has been a challenging year for international development. Geopolitical tensions, economic, climate and energy pressures, and a contraction in global aid have placed further pressure on progress toward shared priorities, including the Sustainable Development Goals. At a time when global cooperation is under strain, the need for sustained leadership is clear.

In this context, Results' mission remains clear and important. As one of Australia's few organisations dedicated to grassroots advocacy for global health equity, we continue to make the case that where a person is born should not determine their opportunity in life. Through sustained, evidence-based advocacy, Results helps build support for government investment in global health, contributing to better outcomes for communities experiencing poverty and inequity.

It has been a privilege to join the Board this year and to work alongside a deeply committed group of directors, staff and advocates. I have been struck by the professionalism with which the organisation approaches its work, and by the strength of its model in empowering people to use their voices to help end extreme poverty.

This is not easy work, particularly in the current environment. Yet the impact outlined in this report reflects what sustained, evidence-based advocacy can contribute to over time. From strengthening parliamentary engagement to advocating for significant Australian commitments to the Global Fund and Gavi, Results continues to demonstrate the value of informed and persistent advocacy.

What gives me confidence is the strength and commitment of the people behind this work, and what they continue to achieve together, even in a challenging and uncertain environment.

Results is built on the conviction that everyday people can shape public policy and that collective advocacy can shift national priorities. That belief is not abstract. It is evident in the advocates who meet with parliamentarians, the partnerships that strengthen our voice, and the communities who benefit from sustained investment in global health.

I would like to acknowledge and thank our partners, supporters and advocates for their continued commitment, as well as the dedication of Results' small team of staff, and voluntary Board. Your engagement is central to this work and to the impact we are able to contribute to.

As we look ahead, we do so with a sense of responsibility and with hope: hope grounded in evidence, in partnership, and in the knowledge that change is possible when people choose to act. Together, we can continue to strengthen Australia's leadership and contribute to a more equitable future.

Chair, Results Board of Directors

CEO'S REPORT

“Hope is not a lottery ticket you can sit on the sofa and clutch... It is an axe you break down doors with in an emergency... To hope is to give yourself to the future - and that commitment to the future is what makes the present inhabitable.”

Rebecca Solnit

2025 was not an easy year to make sense of.

Across the world, we saw the rise of authoritarianism, democratic backsliding, and a fraying of the international rules-based order. The climate crisis pressed in more urgently. The war in Ukraine continued, and conflict across parts of Africa, including Ethiopia and the Sahel, deepened already fragile conditions.

At the very moment when need was rising, the global aid landscape shifted sharply. The rapid dismantling of USAID, alongside reductions in overseas development assistance from multiple OECD countries, created real and immediate consequences for the communities we exist to serve.

Within this context, we were determined to double down on our efforts.

I am deeply proud of what Results delivered in 2025: of our staff, our board, and our network of volunteers who continued to show up with conviction. Our partnership with the Safer World for All campaign strengthened the case for a more ambitious Australian contribution to overseas aid.

This was also a critical year for replenishment. Our 351 for the Global Fund campaign provided a clear and compelling framework for engagement with parliamentarians, contributing to a strong understanding of the Fund's impact. We welcomed the Australian Government's $286 million commitment to the Global Fund as an important outcome.

At the same time, our Voices for Vaccines campaign was important. At a time of growing vaccine hesitancy and misinformation, it was important to continue telling the story of Gavi and its role in reducing under-five mortality. We were pleased to see a $386 million commitment from the Australian Government, closely aligned with our $390 million ask.

We also welcomed three outstanding new directors to our Board: Heather Chai as Chair, Dr Joyce Sauk, and Dr Verity Cooper. Each brings a depth of experience and perspective that is already shaping our work in meaningful ways. It is a privilege to work alongside the Results' Board, and I am grateful for the care and stewardship they bring to the organisation.

Looking ahead, 2026 will mark the launch of our Be Hope campaign: an intentional shift in how we tell the story of change.

None of what we do would be possible without the people who stand alongside us: our donors, supporters, and grassroots advocates. Your commitment sustains this work in very real ways. A very sincere thank you.

And finally, to our staff: in a year of significant external pressure, you have remained steady, thoughtful, highly professional and deeply committed. It is your work, every day, that carries this organisation forward.

CAMPAIGNS

#351 FOR THE GLOBAL FUND

Global Fund to Fight HIV, TB and Malaria Replenishment Campaign

351

for The Global Fund

In 2025, Results continued to drive its #351forGlobalFund campaign, calling on the Australian Government to commit $351 million to the Global Fund's 8th Replenishment (2026–2028): a 32% increase on the previous pledge.

The campaign combined domestic and regional advocacy, with Results engaging directly with Australian parliamentarians and integrating the $351 million ask into broader Official Development Assistance (ODA) advocacy. Advocates played a central role: meeting with MPs and reinforcing consistent, coordinated messaging on the importance of sustained investment in the fight against HIV, tuberculosis, and malaria. A joint letter to the Minister for Foreign Affairs, co-signed by 12 partner organisations, further strengthened the call for increased funding for both the Global Fund and Gavi, The Vaccine Alliance.

At the regional level, Results partnered with the Asia-Pacific TB Caucus to mobilise parliamentary voices across the Indo-Pacific. Members of Parliament from countries including Indonesia and Papua New Guinea committed to sending letters to Australian diplomatic missions, highlighting the Global Fund's impact and encouraging Australia to demonstrate leadership through a strong replenishment pledge.

The campaign culminated in a high-level parliamentary breakfast in August, attended by 15 members of parliament, alongside government representatives and global health partners. At the event, the Australian Government announced a $266 million pledge to the Global Fund - an outcome reflecting sustained advocacy and coordinated engagement across civil society, parliamentarians and partners, and reinforcing Australia's role as a key contributor to global efforts to end HIV, TB, and malaria.

VOICES FOR VACCINES

Gavi, The Vaccine Alliance replenishment campaign

In 2025, Results delivered the Voices for Vaccines campaign to strengthen Australia's support for increased global immunisation coverage. Advocacy efforts included direct engagement with parliamentarians, supported by a national learning session on effective MP engagement led by former Senator and leader of the Greens Party, Dr Richard Di Natale.

Results' campaigners, staff, and board members collectively sent 122 letters to Members of Parliament, calling for increased Official Development Assistance (ODA) to 1% of the federal budget, alongside strong commitments to Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance, and broader multilateral health initiatives.

Results also sent a formal letter to the Minister for International Development calling for a $390 million contribution to Gavi, supported by 33 advocates.

These efforts contributed to sustained political engagement on immunisations and the importance of multilateral funding. At the Gavi pledging summit in June, the Australian Government announced a $386 million commitment, demonstrating Australia's continued role as a key partner in global vaccine coverage.

PARLIAMENTARY LEADERSHIP ON GLOBAL HEALTH

Parliamentary Breakfast

Global Health at a Tipping Point: Why Action Can't Wait

In August, Results hosted a parliamentary breakfast titled Global Health at a Tipping Point: Why Action Can't Wait. The event brought together federal parliamentarians, senior officials and global health partners to highlight the growing risks facing global health programs and the role of Australian leadership.

At the event, the Hon Anne Aly MP announced Australia's A$266 million pledge to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria. While the pledge was the most visible outcome, it reflected months of strategic advocacy, parliamentary engagement and coordinated civil society efforts.

Several factors contributed to this outcome. The event was strategically scheduled for August to align with a stable post-election parliamentary environment, enabling stronger engagement from members of parliament. It was framed around the intersecting challenges of climate change, conflict and declining development assistance, and their implications for tuberculosis, HIV and malaria.

The breakfast attracted 15 parliamentarians, alongside DFAT representatives and a Global Fund delegation. Prior outreach by Results staff and grassroots advocates helped build momentum through meetings with MPs and coordinated messaging on the importance of sustained global health investment.

The event demonstrated Results' ability to convene influential decision-makers and partners at key political moments, helping translate sustained advocacy into tangible funding outcomes and reinforcing Australia's role as a trusted global health partner in the Indo-Pacific and beyond.

TB Parliamentary Friendship Group Launch

In parallel, Results strengthened parliamentary leadership by relaunching the Parliamentary Friendship Group on Tuberculosis in the 48th Parliament, securing cross-party Co-Chairs Kate Thwaites MP (Labor), Dr Sophie Scamps MP (Independent) and Mary Aldred MP (Liberal). This group provides an important platform for shining a light on the devastating nature of tuberculosis and sustaining vital funding investment.

As Secretariat, Results provides coordination and policy support to the group, helping connect parliamentarians with experts, advocates and international partners to strengthen political leadership on tuberculosis and global health across the Indo-Pacific.

Together, these efforts demonstrate the impact of sustained parliamentary engagement and advocacy in securing Australian leadership on global health.

Polio Advocacy Roundtable

On 20 March, Results co-hosted a Polio Roundtable in partnership with Global Citizen, with polio survivor and advocate, Ramesh Ferris. His visit was jointly supported by Rotary and Global Citizen, with Results invited to help facilitate a strategic discussion on Australia's role in global polio eradication.

The roundtable brought together key stakeholders including UNICEF, Polio Australia, Rotary, Global Citizen, the National Centre for Immunisation Research and Surveillance (NCIRS), and the University of Sydney.

Participants heard Ramesh's powerful personal story of survival and advocacy, highlighting the human impact of polio and the urgency of sustaining global eradication efforts. The discussion focused on identifying advocacy priorities for Australia within the current geopolitical landscape and exploring how partners can strengthen support for the Global Polio Eradication Initiative (GPEI).

The event fostered valuable dialogue and helped strengthen collaboration across civil society, research and advocacy organisations working to advance the global goal of ending polio.

RECORD 74 SITES ILLUMINATED 'LIGHT UP RED' FOR WORLD TB DAY

On 24 March 2025, Results advocates, staff, directors and supporters marked World TB Day through the Light Up Red campaign, mobilising communities and decision-makers to raise awareness of tuberculosis.

A record 74 landmarks, bridges, buildings and monuments across Australia were illuminated in red, the largest participation the campaign has achieved to date. Securing this level of engagement required coordinated outreach from advocates across the country, demonstrating the growing momentum behind calls to end TB. Results also partnered with Results Canada, showcasing landmarks illuminated across both countries and highlighting the power of our global partnership.

The campaign helped elevate tuberculosis within public and political conversations, demonstrating broad community support for action on TB and strengthening Results' ability to engage decision-makers, media and partners around the urgency of investing in TB prevention, treatment and research.

STRENGTHENING PARLIAMENTARY TB LEADERSHIP IN THE PACIFIC

In March, Results supported regional parliamentary engagement on tuberculosis by coordinating a recorded message from Hon Warren Entsch, who was Co-Chair of the Australian Parliamentary TB Caucus at the time.

Results worked closely with Hon Entsch's office to develop a targeted message highlighting the role of parliamentarians in driving political leadership, financing, and accountability in the TB response. The message was shared at a TB-focused parliamentary event in Kiribati and received strong positive feedback, reinforcing the importance of parliamentary leadership and regional collaboration in addressing TB.

This engagement was particularly critical given the scale of the challenge in Kiribati, where the World Health Organisation estimated a tuberculosis incidence rate of approximately 945 cases per 100,000 population in 2024, among the highest globally.

GLOBAL HEALTH LEADERSHIP AND ENGAGEMENT

Results participated in key international forums in 2025, strengthening partnerships and contributing to global policy discussions on tuberculosis, climate and global health.

In January, Our Global Health Manager joined over 100 global TB advocates at the United in Advocacy to End TB meeting, hosted by the Stop TB Partnership in Türkiye. The assembly aimed to align advocates on the priorities and actions needed to accelerate progress towards ending TB by 2030.

Our Global Health Manager contributed to discussions on the Global Fund replenishment, providing insights into the Australian political context and the key levers influencing funding decisions. This engagement helped strengthen international advocacy alignment and position Australia within the broader global TB financing landscape.

At the World Health Summit in Berlin, Results joined global health leaders, advocates and researchers to discuss the future of pandemic preparedness, innovation and equitable access to health technologies. The summit provided an important opportunity to engage with international partners and share advocacy messages on the importance of sustained political commitment and financing for global health.

Results also participated in the Stop TB Partnership Board Meeting in Manila, where global leaders reviewed progress and strategic priorities for ending tuberculosis. A visit to a local TB program in Manila highlighted both the impact of strong, patient-centred care and the ongoing barriers faced by communities living in informal settlements. The experience reinforced the critical role of community-based organisations and TB survivors in reaching people who remain excluded from formal health systems.

Together, these engagements strengthened Results' global partnerships and informed ongoing advocacy efforts to accelerate progress towards ending tuberculosis.

GLOBAL HEALTH AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Results' 2025-27 strategic directions included, for the first time, a core pillar on climate and health. This recognises that the climate crisis is a health crisis, and that climate change is undermining decades of progress on health and human development.

In 2025 Results undertook a scoping study to analyse the advocacy landscape on climate and health both globally and in Australia, to better understand how our organisation could add value. The study involved interviews with Australian and international stakeholders alongside a literature review. The findings helped to shape our direction on climate and health over subsequent months, building further on the climate and health research projects already commenced under the 2025 Fellowship program.

Results continued the important foundational work of building and strengthening relationships with other climate and health actors, including Australian and international civil society organisations, academics, global health institutions and peak bodies. We became members of key climate and health alliances, including the Global Climate and Health Alliance, and Climate Action Network Australia.

This foundational groundwork ensures our new climate and health pillar is built on a solid evidence base, providing us with a clearer perspective on how our advocacy can most thoughtfully complement existing efforts at the intersection of these two critical issues.

NUTRITION

In 2025, Results secured funding to undertake scoping on nutrition advocacy. This work directly aligned with the ACTION network's priorities and bridged Results' core pillars: infectious diseases, where malnutrition heightens susceptibility and severity; climate and health, as nutrition sits at the intersection of food security and resilience; and Official Development Assistance (ODA).

Through this initiative, we deepened relationships with key stakeholders across international and Australian civil society, multilateral development banks, and government bodies. This work ensures that Results is well-positioned to integrate nutrition into our ongoing health and climate advocacy, while providing a basis for future engagement in the nutrition space.

FELLOWSHIP

In 2025, Results delivered another Global Health Fellowship program, welcoming a cohort of 10 leaders from diverse backgrounds in public health, medicine, academia, and advocacy. Over the course of an eight-month program, Fellows strengthened their understanding of parliamentary processes, global health challenges, and effective advocacy strategies.

The Fellowship combined learning and practical application, beginning with an in-person retreat in Melbourne that built strong peer connections and grounded Fellows in advocacy for systems change. Throughout the year, Fellows participated in targeted learning sessions on storytelling, grassroots organising, influencing decision-makers and the climate-health nexus.

Fellows worked in three thematic groups focused on Gavi diseases, Global Fund diseases, and nutrition in the context of climate change, to develop policy-focused reports and advocacy strategies. As the program progressed, Fellows transitioned from learning to action, refining their recommendations and preparing to engage decision-makers and the broader community. This included developing advocacy resources, presenting findings, and equipping the Results network to engage with MPs. The Fellowship concluded at the ACFID conference, where the Fellowship group heard from industry leaders in global health and international development, further strengthening Results' growing network of skilled advocates and helping build long-term capacity for informed, community-driven global health advocacy across Australia.

2026 AND BEYOND: WHAT'S NEXT?

In 2024 Results leadership and the Board developed Results' new Strategic Directions 2025-2027. Building on Results' overarching mission to generate the political will to end poverty, Results will focus on three core areas of impact: overseas development assistance and multilateralism; global health; and climate change, especially as it relates to global health.

In pursuing these goals, Results will consistently apply a gender equality lens to ensure our work addresses the specific needs and great potential of women and girls.

OUR 2025 BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Results Board of Directors volunteer tirelessly to support Results staff and progress our vision to end extreme poverty in the Asia Pacific region.

OUR SUPPORTERS

Our Advocates and Donors

We would like to extend our sincere gratitude to our amazing advocates, supporters and donors.

You are at the core of Results and we couldn't create a world without poverty without your support. We greatly appreciate your hard work and commitment to our collective efforts to build a better world and brighter future for all.

Results chooses not to receive government funding, and are proud to remain independent in our work, with the ability to be fearless and forthright in our advocacy.

We would like to extend a thank you to RESULTS Educational Fund (US) for their ongoing confidence in our work.

We rely on and are very grateful for individual tax-deductible donations, especially regular monthly contributions. Results' grant funding is conditional on us receiving donations from members of the Australian community.

FINANCIAL SUMMARY

How we raise our funds

Results receives the majority of its funding from RESULTS Educational Fund (US) through the ACTION partnership, which is funded by major US philanthropists. In 2025, we received A$544,666 from ACTION. With additional income from our other major donors, including QIAGEN and SILA, as well as monetary and in-kind donations, local fundraising and other activities, Results' total income came to A$677,797. The CEO, staff and Board continue to work hard to create new funding opportunities to increase and diversify our income from a range of other supporters and donors, ensuring Results has a strong and sustainable income stream.

How we spend our funds

77% of our funds were spent on community education to guide and invest in skills development to amplify the voices of our volunteers. It enabled Results to run a successful Grassroots Fellowship Program, allowed volunteers to attend training, workshops, advocates to visit MPs and Senators in Canberra, write effective letters and undertake other activities described in this report. Our fundraising expenditure continues to be minimal, while 22% was spent on essential administration and accountability expenses including auditing, IT, travel, personnel and operational costs, supporting our core campaigning.

Our current financial position

Careful financial management has provided Results with a strong base of retained earnings, which were strategically deployed during 2025's global health funding crisis. Following the abrupt withdrawal of USAID support and a broader shift in the international donor landscape, Results utilised these reserves to absorb a A$194,920 deficit. We ended the year with a healthy balance of A$260,842; combined with two years remaining on the ACTION grant, this ensures we are financially prepared to sustain our impact through 2026 and the foreseeable future.
