ABOUT RESULTS

Charity can move millions, but advocacy can move billions.

Results International (Australia) - Results - is a non-partisan international aid and development organisation. We advocate to Australian parliamentarians with the aim of leveraging millions of dollars in government funding for the world's poorest communities in the Asia Pacific region.

For 35 years we have recruited, trained and empowered everyday Australians through our grassroots advocacy program. We enable our advocates to use their voice to ensure Australia is a good international citizen and directs its overseas aid budget to some of the best anti-poverty initiatives in the world.

Our model of grassroots, policy and parliamentary advocacy enables us to create transformational change for some of the world's poorest communities. Throughout our history, we have generated significant government investment in priority areas including global health, education, nutrition, and women and girls.

Results is one of only two development agencies in Australia dedicated to advocating for global health equity. We believe that, no matter where people are born, everyone should have equal opportunities to fulfil their potential in life.

With head, hands and heart, Results has contributed to some of the biggest wins in the fight to end global poverty. From mobilising millions of dollars to alleviate diseases of poverty such as tuberculosis and polio, to ensuring millions more children have access to basic education.

Mission

To generate the political will to end extreme poverty.

Vision

An Asia-Pacific region free from extreme poverty.

Values

- We are independent, non-partisan and evidence-based.
- We are driven to achieve equity and justice.
- We work in solidarity with the people we serve and partner with organisations with a shared mission.
- We empower everyday people, corporations and politicians to take action.

OUR INTERNATIONAL PARTNERSHIPS

Results International (Australia) is a member of two international advocacy partnerships: Results and ACTION.

Creating change at scale requires partnership across organisations. At Results we are thrilled to partner with the ACTION Global Health Advocacy Partnership, a group of 13 locally rooted organisations around the world, working to ensure all people have equitable access to health care.

We are also part of an international network of Results organisations. As well as Australia, our Results network spans the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom. Together we form a united global network of agencies committed to a world without poverty.

CHAIR'S REPORT

As I look back across the last year, it is hard to ignore we are operating within a complex and increasingly volatile global landscape that is characterised by overlapping crises. Climate change, conflict and economic instability are exacerbating existing inequity in access to health, food and resources, while the shifting sands of the geopolitical landscape are creating uncertainty for the future funding and support of humanitarian response and development efforts.

Results' mission, to generate the political will to end extreme poverty, now seems more urgent and critical than ever in order to address the causes of local and global inequality and ensure people have equal opportunity to fulfil their potential in life no matter where they live. Throughout this year we have maintained our focus on advocating for access to basic health care, quality education and fair economic participation within Australia and for our Indo-Pacific Neighbours.

We continue to set our sights forward, developing a new three-year strategic plan that recognises the impacts of global climate change and gender inequality on global health and extreme poverty. The challenges our strategy sets can only be realised through the tireless work of our volunteer base, who use the power of conversation throughout their networks to amplify our vision and voice to influence policy and initiate change.

I would like to say thank you to all who continue to do so much to support our movement, for your advocacy and ongoing commitment to ending global poverty.

My thanks especially to Negaya for her constant support, leadership and drive as Results' inspiring CEO, and for providing the energy and drive to elevate the work of Results in the sector. To the amazing staff and support team, I also want to extend my gratitude for the quality and impact of your work in sustaining our movement. Finally, a huge thank you to my board colleagues, who provide their expertise and passion in ensuring good governance of the organisation.

Despite the uncertainties and considerable challenges in the years ahead for the sector, it is also a period of immense potential for everyday people to take action and use their voice to advocate for a world where all people are free from extreme poverty, injustice and inequality, and where the earth's finite resources are managed sustainably. I thank you all again for taking up this challenge and for your commitment to generating the political will to end extreme poverty.

CEO'S REPORT

"Hope should shove you out the door, because it will take everything you have to steer the future away from endless war, from the annihilation of the earth's treasures and the grinding down of the poor and marginal..." Rebecca Solnit

As I reflect on Results' activities and achievements over the last year I am deeply inspired by our staff and advocates, and their dedicated work for a fairer and more prosperous world. At a time of aid volatility, the growing impacts of the climate crisis and humanitarian crises gripping large parts of the globe, the role of citizen advocates could not be more important.

In 2024, Results continued to focus on the issues that have long been at the heart of our work: health equity, education, nutrition, and women and girls. We also expanded our focus to include the health effects of climate change. We saw some encouraging 'wins' for global health from the Australian government, with new investments in TB treatments ($17 million) and regional health systems ($45.5 million). We also launched our #351 for the Global Fund, and Voices for Vaccines campaigns, calling on the Australian Government to invest its fair share in the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, TB and Malaria and Gavi, the Global Vaccine Alliance.

At the same time Results' Advocates created public awareness for TB, with twenty two buildings and monuments across the country lit up in red for World TB Day on 24 March. Across an eight-month period, our third intake of Global Health Fellows developed their skills, deepened their learning and supported our calls for the rights of all people, everywhere, to access healthcare.

At Results' annual Leadership Awards we celebrated our political, media and advocate champions in the fight to end global poverty. This year's theme: 'Democracy on the edge: The fight for human rights and a prosperous world' was especially important. We firmly believe that citizen-led activism not only advances specific causes, but also has a vital role to play in sustaining a healthy, thriving democracy.

I want to thank our Directors for their excellent stewardship of Results. In particular, I would like to acknowledge Results' Chair Terina Stibbard who has governed Results with incredible skill and commitment, and has been an unwavering supporter of me, our staff and our broader advocacy efforts. Terina has also shaped a highly effective and engaged Board.

Finally, our deepest thanks and recognition to our passionate Advocates, our inspiring and committed staff, donors and partners for all your support in helping build a safer and more equitable world where everyone can live a life of dignity and one of hope. None of what we do would be possible without you.

ADVOCACY

TUBERCULOSIS ADVOCACY

In March 2024, Results convened a high-level parliamentary breakfast focused on Tuberculosis (TB) innovations and treatment access. This highly successful event featured:

- The Hon Pat Conroy, Minister for International Development and the Pacific, who announced Australia's A$17 million commitment to the TB Alliance to support new treatments for TB.
- Shadow Minister for Foreign Affairs the Hon Simon Birmingham, who reinforced bipartisan support for the fight to end TB.
- A panel discussion, facilitated by Australia's Ambassador for Global Health, Lucas de Toca, featuring experts Simone Barry (South Australia Health), Khai Li Huang (Burnet Institute), and Jamie Triccas (University of Sydney).

World TB Day Parliamentary Breakfast (L-R): Brendan Crabb, Danni Kim, Alexa Murray, Negaya Chorley, Senator the Hon Simon Birmingham, Kate Thwaites MP, the Hon Pat Conroy MP, Terina Stibbard, Rob Shwetz, Benjamin Anderson.

In November 2024, Results also contributed to the Asia Pacific TB Forum, which marked the 10-year anniversary of the TB Caucus. CEO Negaya Chorley presented on Australia's progress towards TB targets, strengthening connections with key partners in TB advocacy.

In November 2024, Results contributed to the Union Conference with a session titled The Power of Advocacy in Global Health. Led by our CEO and Global Health Manager, alongside partners from Results Canada and GFAN, the three-hour session covered the role of advocacy in global health, strategy development, communication, and the 20-year history of Global Fund advocacy. The session highlighted how advocacy plays a key role in fighting tuberculosis, in addition to other infectious diseases like malaria and HIV.

GLOBAL HEALTH FELLOWSHIP

In 2024, Results' Global Health Fellowship equipped nine emerging leaders with the skills to influence global health policy. Over six months, fellows participated in expert-led sessions on policy, advocacy, media engagement, and research, while gaining practical experience engaging with MPs, policymakers, and global health leaders.

Fellows attended key national and international conferences, including the World Health Summit Regional Meeting and the Global Health Security Conference, where they connected with experts and deepened their understanding of global health challenges. An in-person retreat in Melbourne provided further opportunities for collaboration and leadership development.

The Fellows produced two research papers, Innovations in Global Health and Partnering for Women's and Children's Health, showcasing their ability to conduct impactful, evidence-based advocacy. These reports were sent to over 100 MPs highlighting the need for increased ODA, particularly in the Indo-Pacific region.

Through this program, Results continues to cultivate the next generation of global health leaders, ensuring stronger advocacy for health equity in the Indo-Pacific and beyond.

GRASSROOTS ADVOCATES

Results' volunteer advocates use their voice to influence the Australian Government decision-makers to improve policies, renew commitments and increase financial resources for a more equitable world.

Throughout 2024, our network of over 100 advocates participated in a range of learning sessions to deepen their understanding of global health issues and strengthen their advocacy skills, to confidently call on the Australian Government for greater action to end poverty. Through these learning sessions, our advocates wrote letters and met with their local MPs to build awareness of the importance of increasing ODA and investing in global health initiatives such as Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance and the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria. Our advocates engaged with members of parliament from all sides of politics.

ADVOCATE TRAINING: BUILDING COMMUNITY KNOWLEDGE

Results' busy advocate program included seven webinars and online training sessions for our advocates across a range of topics. The diverse range of expert speakers shared their knowledge, with special thanks to Chelsea Beech (Beech Agency), Hunter Lee & Athalia Foo (Today), Richard Di Natale (Former Leader of the Australian Greens), Results Staff and Silver Scribes.

SAFER WORLD FOR ALL CAMPAIGN

The Safer World for All campaign is a national initiative urging Australian leaders to take action to address global challenges and build a more equitable and secure world for all.

In 2024, Results joined forces with the Safer World for All (SWFA) campaign to advocate for an increase in Australia's Official Development Assistance (ODA) to 1% of the federal budget. Australia is one of the safest, healthiest, and most generous countries in the world. Yet, our aid contribution is only 0.68% of the FY2024-25 Federal Budget. SWFA is advocating for a moderate increase that would make a world of difference.

Australia can show its commitment to being a good international citizen, strengthen regional stability, unlock economic opportunities and put the world back on the path to progress, peace and prosperity.

We are proud to work with key partners including Micah, Australian Council for International Development, Caritas Australia, Action Aid and Save the Children.

As part of this broader effort calling for a step up in ODA, we wrote to over 107 MPs, urging them to support the Global Fund and Gavi replenishments.

This advocacy was a crucial step in ensuring Australia plays a stronger role in global health and poverty reduction, reinforcing the need for sustainable, long-term funding for vaccines, and testing and treatment for HIV, TB and malaria in the Indo-Pacific region. Through direct parliamentary engagement and collaboration with civil society and policy leaders, Results continues to push for greater Australian leadership in global health financing.

Results' CEO, Negaya Chorley, and Global Health Manager, Jennifer Peake, show their support for the Safer World for All Campaign.

351 FOR THE GLOBAL FUND CAMPAIGN

The Global Fund invests billions of dollars every year to defeat HIV, TB and malaria and ensure a healthier, safer, more equitable future for all.

In December 2024, Results launched its Global Fund 8th Replenishment campaign, 351 for the Global Fund, calling on the Australian Government to pledge A$351 million for the 2026-2028 funding cycle. This represented a 32% increase from Australia's previous commitment and aimed to ensure continued support for lifesaving treatments for HIV, TB, and malaria, particularly in the Indo-Pacific region.

To reinforce this ask, Results coordinated a closed letter to Foreign Minister Penny Wong, with support from civil society and research organisations, advocating for increased Overseas Development Assistance and a stronger Global Fund contribution.

In parallel, Results partnered with the Asia Pacific TB Caucus, engaging Members of Parliament to write to the Australian consulate. As a result, Indonesia, South Korea, India and Papua New Guinea sent formal letters highlighting the critical role of Global Fund investments in the region.

VOICES FOR VACCINES CAMPAIGN

Gavi, The Vaccine Alliance, is a public-private partnership that helps vaccinate more than half the world's children against some of the world's deadliest diseases.

In 2024, Results led a Gavi campaign, Voices for Vaccines, focusing on recruiting and empowering campaigners to advocate for a strong Gavi replenishment in 2025. The campaign included training sessions designed to equip Results' advocates with essential advocacy skills to effectively engage with policymakers and the public.

The campaign's training program featured a variety of expert-led sessions, including:

- Introduction to Gavi, which provided an overview of Gavi's critical role in vaccinating children in low-income countries.
- Amplifying your message on social media, led by Beech Advocacy, teaching participants how to engage online audiences and promote the cause effectively.
- Writing for Advocacy with Today, focusing on crafting persuasive messages for policy change.
- MP engagement, facilitated by Richard Di Natale, former Senator of Australia, which offered valuable insights into how to effectively engage parliamentarians and advocate for increased funding for global health initiatives.

Following these sessions, advocates were encouraged to write to their MPs, with many securing meetings with their local parliamentarians to press for a strong Gavi replenishment in 2025. This campaign not only mobilised a passionate group of advocates but also reinforced the importance of collaborative, grassroots advocacy in achieving tangible progress on global health issues.

EVENTS & INFLUENCE

LEADERSHIP AWARDS

In May 2024, members of the Results' community from across Australia and around the world gathered in person and online to take part in our annual Leadership Awards Event. The theme "Democracy on the edge: the fight for human rights and a prosperous world" highlighted the role of citizen-led movements in safeguarding our democracies. Results brought together Sam Daley-Harris (founder of the Results movement in the USA) and Caitlin Figueiredo (2024 ACT Young Australian of the Year), with the wonderful emcee Briony Benjamin (story teller and changemaker).

The Leadership Awards celebrated the amazing work of our volunteers, journalists and parliamentarians who have shown outstanding leadership in the fight against global poverty: Rahab Mwaniki (outstanding contribution to advocacy), Alex Norden (outstanding contribution to Grassroots Fellowship Program), Stephen Dziedzic of the ABC (media leadership award) and Kate Thwaites MP (political leadership award).

OUR MEDIA IMPACT

Results' advocacy throughout the year gained significant media attention, helping to amplify key messages and mobilise public and political support.

For World TB day alone we achieved:

- 115 media mentions of CEO Negaya Chorley and Results across online and print, up from 80 in the previous year.
- Coverage in major outlets, including The Sunday Telegraph (op-ed), The Canberra Times, News Corp, and ABC regional.
- Audience reach of 5.52 million, up from approximately 3 million the previous year.
- Additional radio coverage on ABC Far North Breakfast, ABC North and West, and Eyre Peninsula.

Through targeted advocacy, parliamentary engagement, and media outreach, Results continues to strengthen Australia's leadership in global health. By advocating for increased investment in HIV, TB, malaria, and vaccine equity, we are working towards a future where more people have access to the healthcare they need.

THE Sunday Telegraph

This is how to vanquish a killer

Prof Brendan Crabb & Negaya Chorley

Tuberculosis has long been preventable and treatable. Yet, it remains the top infectious disease killer in human history, currently causing 1.3 million deaths a year. Once a terrible scourge everywhere, TB has been largely defeated in high income countries. But huge slabs of the world's population have been left behind.

Incomprehensible to many in Australia, TB continues to ravage many of our neighbours. The alarming rates of multi-drug resistant TB on the island of Daru in PNG's Western Province, and now in Port Moresby, stand as a stark reminder of the urgent need for comprehensive responses.

Our colleagues and teams have seen people die from TB – it's an awful, painful death that can involve coughing up blood as the lungs are attacked by the bacteria.

Getting access to testing and treatment can also be arduous, taking people in parts of PNG, for example, two hours by road or boat to their nearest TB clinic.

Just with COVID-19, another airborne killer, we learnt that you can drastically reduce deaths and infections when you have the global funding and willpower behind it. The same concerted effort must be applied to end TB.

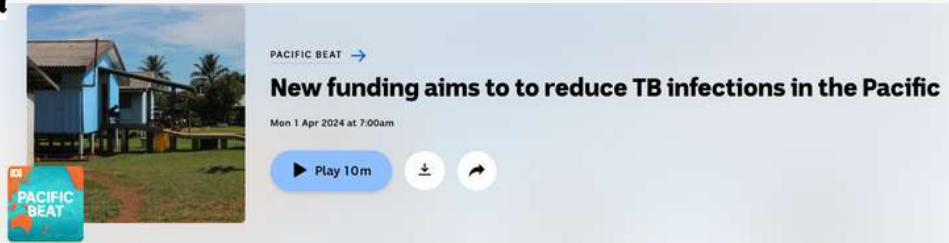

As experience in Australia and other rich countries has shown, mass TB screening and treatment programs of the 1950s, together with current tests and treatments can be used to effectively eliminate TB.

Even better tools, including newer rapid tests, shorter treatments and more effective vaccines are on the way.

Australian taxpayer dollars are working. The health prospects of entire communities in Asia and the Pacific can turn around with the help of our country's investments in TB research and programs that train health workers to screen, treat and prevent TB. Work is under way in Indonesia, PNG and Kiribati.

For TB, the investment needed is minuscule compared to the enormity of the human health, security and economic returns. It's the best bang for buck there is.

Australia to help Pacific neighbours fight tuberculosis

Australia will help its Asian and Pacific neighbours fight tuberculosis to stop its spread and support peace and stability in the region.

roughly every 20 seconds, someone dies from tuberculosis, making it one of the deadliest diseases in the world.

Though Australia's rates of tuberculosis are extremely low, most of its global burden is borne by close neighbours.

It has reached crisis levels for many countries in Asia and the Pacific and remains a threat in Australia, especially after disruptions caused by the COVID-19 pandemic led tuberculosis deaths to rise for the first time in more than a decade.

Penny Wong announces $17m funding injection to treat TB scourge in the Asia-Pacific

Results CEO Negaya Chorley drives the call for greater investments in TB in our region in this piece published in news.com.au on 25 March.

Foreign Minister Penny Wong will direct $17m to fight the tuberculosis scourge that continues to cripple Southeast Asia and The Pacific, though one international aid agency says the money won't be enough to wipe out the curable illness.

Ms Wong announced the commitment on Sunday ahead of World Tuberculosis Day, with the funds set to support the Global Alliance for Tuberculosis to develop and trial a new generation of "drug-resistant" tuberculosis treatments, including for children.

Our Advocates and Donors

We would like to extend our sincere gratitude to our amazing advocates, supporters and donors.

You are at the core of Results and we couldn't create a world without poverty without your support. We greatly appreciate your hard work and commitment to our collective efforts to build a better world and brighter future for all.

Results chooses not to receive government funding, and are proud to remain independent in our work, with the ability to be fearless and forthright in our advocacy.

We would like to extend a thank you to RESULTS Educational Fund (US) for their ongoing confidence in our work.

We would also like to thank our major 2024 funders: QIAGEN for supporting our TB advocacy, and Social Impact Leadership Australia (funded by Sidney Myer Fund, The Myer Foundation, Vincent Fairfax Family Foundation and Paul Ramsay Foundation)

We rely on and are very grateful for individual tax-deductible donations, especially regular monthly contributions. Results' grant funding is conditional on us receiving donations from members of the Australian community.

Thank you for your support.

FINANCIAL SUMMARY

How we raise our funds

Results receives the majority of its funding from RESULTS Educational Fund (US) through the ACTION partnership, which is funded by major US philanthropists. In 2024, we received A$733,184 from ACTION. With additional income from our other major donors, including QIAGEN and SILA, as well as monetary and in-kind donations, local fundraising and other activities, Results' total income came to A$896,319. The CEO, staff and Board continue to work hard to create new funding opportunities to increase and diversify our income from a range of other supporters and donors, ensuring Results has a strong and sustainable income stream.

How we spend our funds

62% of our funds were spent on community education to guide and invest in skills development to amplify the voices of our volunteers. It enabled Results to run a successful Grassroots Fellowship Program, allowed volunteers to attend training, workshops, advocates to visit MPs and Senators in Canberra, write effective letters and undertake other activities described in this report. Our fundraising expenditure continues to be minimal, while 29% was spent on essential administration and accountability expenses including auditing, IT, travel, personnel and operational costs, supporting our core campaigning.

Our current financial position

Careful management of expenditure enabled a surplus of A$6,467 as at 31 December 2024. Retained earnings are important to ensure we are in a position to continue to achieve impact in the years ahead. This boosted retained earnings to A$455,762 at year end which, coupled with a renewed four year grant from RESULTS Educational Fund (US), provides confidence to pursue planned activities for 2025 and beyond.
